RIZ EXTERIOR DESIGN
BICTON RESIDENCE

The owners of this riverfront property were building their dream home and wanted a unique landscape design that would complement their home. Construction had already started when RED was brought in to provide the design, which includes: natural products; alfresco dining; pool, water feature; outdoor kitchen; feature walls; lawn; travertine paving; terraced levels; and statement plants. The project called for an entry statement at the front, a fun and inviting entertaining area and a clean and simple rear design that leaves the grand view to take centre stage. RED integrated the spa into the pool and extended the deck to hang out over the cliff's edge, maximising views. Built-in seating and an outdoor fireplace offer an opportunity for interaction. The property frontage 'wows' with cantilevered structures and laser-cut leaf-pattern screens from Lump Sculpture Studio, which soften the front fence. These mirror the Pyrus nivalis, or Snow pears, which are part of the Australian native, drought-tolerant planting scheme. A large pivot-door gate was built using the rough offcuts from the recycled jarrah railway sleepers, which were used to build the suspended timber arbor. The result is a grand residential landscape, which is formal and yet low-maintenance, in a contemporary style with an Asian-influenced twist.

LD TOTAL & PLAN E
RIO TINTO NATURESCAPE KINGS PARK
This concept of a great vision for kids was an overall winner at the awards. The installation and logistics have met energy conservation aims, and pro-active participation in design adaptation, and realises low energy use, low environment recreation and cultural outcomes.

LIAWA Awards

The Landscape Industry Association WA (LIAWA) Awards are an annual recognition of great projects by members in collaboration with non-members in the industry to design and install works that are unique, of great standards, or of sustainable value. As the LIAWA byline says, they're "shaping the future of landscaping in WA"

TIM DAVIES LANDSCAPING

The judges called Tim Davies Landscaping's results with the 'Rubix' project "serendipitous". They noted quality install work throughout, including some tricky detailing with steel.

NEWFORMS LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE

Newforms, along with Phase 3 Landscape Construction, created this sensory and interactive garden. Good use of recycled materials is seen in the retaining and randomly shaped stepper slabs, instead of the typical rectangular pavers. Judges said it is a kid-friendly backyard that offers a sense of adventure.

HIDCOTE LANDSCAPES
POINCIANA COURTYARD

“The days out judging are intense and have been described by some as a rollercoaster ride in slow motion that lasts for eight hours at a time”

CULTIVART

The judges described Cultivart’s Kings Park Apartment, constructed by Phase 3 Landscape Construction, as a beautiful and peaceful space. Noting a balance of good hardscape and softscape, and unique, well-placed and understated artwork within the garden, it is an impressive example of managing limited space.

HIDCOTE LANDSCAPES

Judges were welcomed by ‘wow’ factor and attention to detail, design and workmanship when they visited Hidcote Landscape’s Poinciana Courtyard. The living wall and viewing hole in the ceiling for the portico focuses perfectly on the Poinciana.
